June 2023

Greetings from the Waldorf Early Childhood Association of North America!

This Membership Handbook for Early Childhood Teacher Education Programs and Institutes is a guide to our work together in association throughout North America. The handbook describes the history, goals, and activities of our association, our Shared Principles for Early Childhood Teacher Training, and the path to membership for training programs and institutes, including the benefits and responsibilities of membership, and the steps required to fulfill the responsibilities of organizational membership. We invite you to join us as we engage in a process of self-reflection and collaboration that will ultimately strengthen and deepen the early childhood teacher training programs and thus the care and education of young children in Waldorf settings throughout North America.

We are happy to be sharing our newly updated WECAN Shared Principles for Early Childhood Teacher Education, which better reflect our commitment to advancing inclusion, diversity, equity, and access. The Shared Principles include descriptions of the following: Purpose, Goals, and Philosophy; Educational Program and Faculty; Governance, Administration, and Finances; Relations with the Wider Waldorf Early Childhood Movement.

The Shared Principles have been developed by the WECAN Early Childhood Teacher Education Committee, which has been active for several years here in North America, in collaboration with the International Association for Steiner/Waldorf Early Childhood Education (IASWECE) Working Group on Early Childhood Training. They are intended as recommendations and guidelines rather than as strict requirements or prescriptions, and it is understood that there is a wide range of possible approaches to the training of Waldorf early childhood educators. At the same time, they represent an effort to uphold the quality and integrity of Waldorf early childhood teacher education and thus the vocation of Waldorf early childhood education.

For Full WECAN Member institutes and training programs, the Shared Principles are an expression of the ideals and practices that allow them to be seen as representatives of Waldorf early childhood teacher education here in North America and worldwide. For Associate WECAN Member institutes and programs, they provide guidelines for the development of training activities and the organizational health of the training program. Individuals who complete such training courses are generally recognized throughout the worldwide Steiner/Waldorf early childhood movement as “Waldorf trained”.

The path to membership for early childhood teacher education programs and institutes is intended to foster a culture of self-study, peer review, and collaboration that will strengthen and deepen our work. It offers opportunities for reflection and collaboration within and among training centers that will serve the training programs and therefore also the quality of the care and education of young children throughout North America.

We look forward to our work together in association!

With best wishes,

Susan Howard, WECAN Coordinator

Ruth Ker, WECAN Teacher Education Coordinator

Introduction to the Waldorf Early Childhood Association of North America

The Waldorf Early Childhood Association of North America (WECAN) was founded in 1983, originally under the name of the Waldorf Kindergarten Association of North America. Its administrative office is in Spring Valley, New York.

WECAN's mission is to foster a new cultural impulse for the work with the young child from pre-birth to age seven. Based on an anthroposophical understanding of human development, WECAN is committed to protecting and nurturing childhood as a foundation for renewing human culture. WECAN accomplishes this mission in a number of ways, including but not limited to the following:

- Encouraging, supporting, and offering resources to professionals working with young children based on the educational philosophy of Rudolf Steiner, through conferences, lectures, seminars, publications, and other means.
- Supporting the development of Waldorf early childhood centers, birth to three programs, kindergartens, pre-schools, home programs, and training centers through a path to membership involving self-study and peer review.
- Protecting the name of Steiner/Waldorf on behalf of AWSNA, owner of the Steiner/Waldorf service mark, by ensuring that the marks are not misused in early childhood programs and granting use of the name to early childhood-only programs that have demonstrated through self-study and peer review that they can stand as representatives of Waldorf early childhood education in North America.
- Encouraging and providing opportunities for the exchange of information among colleagues drawing their inspiration from the work of Rudolf Steiner in their work with young children through newsletters, regional gatherings, an online hub, and other forms of communication.
- Interacting with other educational organizations representing a wide spectrum of ideas about early childhood education.
- Encouraging and supporting research regarding Waldorf early childhood education and the development of the young child, and publishing the results of such research.
- Working together with other organizations that share similar goals and ideals, such as the Association of Waldorf Schools of North America (AWSNA), the International Association for Steiner/Waldorf Early Childhood Education (IASWECE) and the Pedagogical Section of the School of Spiritual Science.

Membership in WECAN is open to individuals who support the work of the Waldorf Early Childhood Association, and to early childhood programs, kindergartens, childcare centers, teacher training centers, and related programs committed to the ideals and practices of Waldorf early childhood education and anthroposophy, the philosophy developed by Rudolf Steiner (1861-1925), and who wish to support and contribute to Waldorf early childhood education in North America. In 2022-23, WECAN membership included 527 individual members and 204 organizational members and affiliates — schools, childcare centers, home programs, and teacher education institutes—throughout North America.

Our activities on behalf of our members include the following:

- Publication of a newsletter, Gateways, for Waldorf early childhood educators and caregivers, which appears twice each year.
- Electronic e-News Updates sent out several times a year, with news, upcoming events, announcements, and links to press articles and research of interest to Waldorf early childhood educators and caregivers.
- Hosting the WECAN Community Hub, an online platform for sharing resources and engaging in conversations.
- Publication and distribution of study materials for early childhood educators, caregivers and parents through WECAN Books.

- Advancing Inclusion, Diversity, Equity, and Access (IDEA) through research and resource sharing, publications, workshops, conferences, and other activities of our IDEA Committee, Board and staff, and in collaboration with other organizations.
- Engaging in direct dialogue with early childhood educators, caregivers and administrators about the programs they design in institutions and in homes, and about how they define and develop their roles and their work with parents and guardians.
- Collaborative research, publication, and workshops on a variety of topics including the needs of the child from birth to three, the older child in the kindergarten and the transition to first grade, and inclusion, diversity, equity and access in Waldorf early childhood programs.
- Developing online resources for member organizations.
- Providing opportunities for early childhood teacher trainers to exchange healthy practices and improve the quality of the preparation of Waldorf early childhood educators and caregivers.

- Collaborating with AWSNA and the Alliance for Public Waldorf Education through representation on the Waldorf Associations Working Group.
- Active membership in the International Association for Steiner/Waldorf Early Childhood Education (IASWECE), with two representatives on its Council, who share news and events from Waldorf early childhood education worldwide with our members.
- Fundraising for the development of early childhood projects throughout the world.

Activities in relation to teacher education include the following:

- Colloquia and gatherings, both in person and remote, of North American Waldorf early childhood trainers to share experiences, research, and questions.
- International conferences and meetings for early childhood teacher trainers.
- Development of Guidelines for the Training of Child Care Providers, through participation in the International Association

- Opportunities for teacher trainers and prospective students to meet at WECAN conference job fairs.

These activities are made possible through grant funding (Waldorf Educational Foundation, Waldorf Schools Funds, and Waldorf Curriculum Fund), individual donors to WECAN, WECAN Membership contributions, and through collaboration among the WECAN Early Childhood Teacher Education Committee, the circle of North American Waldorf early childhood teacher educators, the AWSNA Teacher Education Delegates Circle (TEDC), the International Association for Steiner/Waldorf Early Childhood Education (IASWECE) and its Working Group on Training, the Pedagogical Section in Dornach and the WECAN Board and Staff.

The Waldorf Early Childhood Association of North America is a tax-exempt not-for-profit organization.

WECAN Shared Principles for Early Childhood Teacher Education

The WECAN Shared Principles for Early Childhood Teacher Education form the basis of our understanding of our work together in association and are used in our self-study and membership processes. As a living document, these Shared Principles will continue to be refined through the work of the WECAN Board, the WECAN Early Childhood Teacher Education Committee, and our Member Teacher Education Programs and Institutes. The current version of the Shared Principles was adopted by the WECAN Board in May 2023.

A. Purpose, Goals, and Educational Philosophy

A1 In our work with adult students, we support the preparation, ongoing professional development, deepening and renewal of the work of Waldorf early childhood educators and caregivers.

A2 We are committed to the ideals and continually developing practices of Waldorf/Steiner early childhood education, which are founded on anthroposophical pedagogical principles and an understanding of the human individuality as a being of body, soul, and spirit. We respect the dignity of childhood and educate our students to offer care and protection for children from all communities and backgrounds.

A3 Rudolf Steiner's educational insights are our primary, but not exclusive, source of guidance for understanding the developing human being. Our activities are based on contemporary research in anthroposophy, Waldorf education and other compatible pedagogical approaches. We work to ensure that Waldorf pedagogy becomes neither a theoretical system, nor a collection of outer methods, but a wellspring of living insight and inspiration.

A4 It is our intention to provide an inclusive, diverse, equitable and accessible program for our community so that every member can experience a sense of belonging. We recognize and value the race, ethnicity, sexual orientation, gender identity, ability, learning style, religion, nationality, and socio-economic status of every member as well as the traditions and values of their cultural community.

B. The Educational Program and Faculty

B1 Our programs incorporate historical and contemporary educational research, the evolving practice of Waldorf/Steiner education, and other relevant approaches to pedagogy and adult education.

B2 The program director or person responsible for the early childhood training program - including curriculum development, review and evaluation - is qualified through active training and experience in Waldorf early childhood education and work with adults.

B3 Our faculty members are qualified for their positions and responsibilities by education and/or experience in their recognized field.

B4 We recognize that Waldorf teacher education is a process of lifelong learning. Our faculty and staff are committed to ongoing self- and professional development as demonstrated by active participation in conferences, courses, and professional development workshops.

B5 We have processes in place for mentoring new faculty members and for regular self and peer review for all faculty members.

B6 Our faculty actively strive to implement inclusive, diverse, equitable and accessible practices for working with all adult learners within our community.

B7 Instructors intentionally create an environment of belonging and inclusion. Our instruction reflects an understanding of differences in individual and cultural learning styles, balancing conceptual, self-reflective, artistic and experiential/practical activity. Instructors encourage and cultivate creativity and independent thinking.

B8 Our program provides equitable individual student advising, means of student assessment, and maintains records of attendance, course completion and other relevant documentation.

B9 Our program offers a minimum of 450 class contact hours for birth to seven trainings or 300 hours for birth to three trainings. Curriculum and course content includes a balance of the following areas, with the understanding that program elements may be configured in a variety of ways. (See Curriculum and Course Content for a listing of specific course content areas.)

We work to ensure that students and colleagues in our program do not experience discrimination in admission, retention, or participation. All staff and faculty are expected to participate in ongoing anti-bias training.

C2 Our program is a collaborative and cultural activity and not a profit-oriented business. In our administrative, financial, and leadership processes, faculty and staff work to be socially responsible and equitable in our work with colleagues, families, the institution, and the wider community.

C3 Our program has the physical facilities and clearly defined, effectively implemented organizational structure necessary for the healthy functioning of the program. We have clear processes for making administrative decisions regarding current and future planning, review and development of programs, and creation of inclusive, diverse, equitable and accessible fiscal, administrative, legal, and personnel policies and procedures.

C4 Our program has clearly articulated, inclusive, diverse, equitable and accessible student-related policies and procedures for admissions and dismissal, enrollment, tuition, and program completion.

1. Relations with the Wider Movement

D1 We are part of a worldwide cultural impulse and consider ourselves colleagues in a world movement on behalf of the young child. As such, we are committed to collaborating with colleagues on local, regional, North American, and international levels as a fully-established representative of Waldorf/Steiner early childhood teacher education. Our early childhood program director and/or faculty participate in activities such as teacher trainers' meetings and conferences, collaborative research groups and colloquia, and task force activity of the broader Waldorf /Steiner movement.

WECAN Diversity Statement

In our work with young children from pre-birth to age seven, WECAN is committed to the ideals upon which Waldorf/Steiner education was founded. These include respect for the dignity of each individual child and family in honoring diverse race, culture, religion, national origin, socio-economic situation, gender identity and sexual orientation, family composition, and individual ability which form the backgrounds of their lives. Waldorf early childhood education is committed to supporting diversity, equity, and inclusion as a pathway to social justice and to rectify the explicit and implicit biases that undermine creation of healthy social life in our society.

Waldorf education was founded in 1919 upon the insights of Rudolf Steiner, whose indications provide the foundations for a truly humanized education that recognizes the individuality of each person and the universal spirit living within every human being. WECAN affirms this educational and social truth. Any statements attributed to Rudolf Steiner which imply or suggest discrimination or judgment toward any race, ethnicity, religion, gender or sexuality, or socioeconomic group, are rejected. Such attitudes are contradictory and undermining to the goals of this education.

Working toward these goals requires committed inner work from the adults who care for our children. Teacher preparation and professional deepening call for each educator to engage in self-reflection that will ennoble inner attitudes to support diversity, inclusion, and equity. Recognizing and celebrating the differences that make us uniquely individual fosters healing and creation of new social life. We strive to create conscious, collaborative communities of parents, teachers, and children which strengthen the children in our care to meet future challenges with optimism, confidence, resilience, and tolerance and experience their lives as filled with purpose and meaning.

WECAN Affiliation and Membership Categories

The following section describes the WECAN Path to Membership for Early Childhood Teacher Education Programs and Institutes as well as Registered Initiative Affiliation for Early Childhood Teacher Education Programs and Institutes in Mexico, Puerto Rico and on tribal lands.

WECAN Path to Membership

The purpose of the WECAN Path to Membership for Early Childhood Teacher Education Programs and Institutes is to ensure that the principles of Waldorf Education are upheld and that the graduates are prepared for their professional work as Waldorf early childhood educators. WECAN invites and encourages early childhood teacher education programs to become organizational WECAN members. The WECAN organizational Path to Membership leads from Associate Membership to Full Membership.

We encourage those who are planning to offer a new early childhood teacher education program or add an early childhood teacher training within an existing Waldorf training institute to contact Ruth Ker, WECAN Teacher Education Coordinator, so that we can offer advice and support and discuss the WECAN Path to Membership.

Membership Eligibility

WECAN accepts as applicants early childhood teacher education programs and institutes that are working with the WECAN Shared Principles for teacher education and whose courses and activities are based on the ideals of Waldorf early childhood education.

WECAN membership is not open to programs that identify with a different or additional set of educational principles and practices. Such identification will be evident on the program website or other program materials in one or more of the following ways: the name of the program, the tagline of the program name, and in text describing the program. This policy is intended to avoid confusion on the part of prospective teachers, Waldorf schools, and the general public, in regard to the distinctions between Waldorf early childhood teacher education and other approaches to teacher education that have separate identities and their own guiding principles.

Associate Membership

Applying for Associate Membership:

A training program or institute aligned with WECAN's goals and purposes, with early childhood training students in regular attendance, may apply for Associate Membership for Training Programs and Institutes. Application forms and other information may be obtained by contacting the WECAN Teacher Education Coordinator at teachered@waldorfearlychildhood.org. WECAN Early Childhood Teacher Education Committee members help guide applicants through the process.

WECAN and AWSNA have established cooperative processes for integrating membership activity in the interest of reducing redundancy between membership processes.

Site Visits:

Institutes that wish to engage in a joint AWSNA/WECAN site visit should contact the WECAN Teacher Education Coordinator. The following requirements must be met to have a joint visit:

1. An early childhood teacher trainer must be part of the AWSNA visiting team, so that the one visit can fulfill both the AWSNA and WECAN site visit requirements.

2. Prior to the visit, the early childhood person on the team must receive a copy of the institute's current AWSNA Self-Study and WECAN supplement, WECAN Site Visit Report from the most recent WECAN visit, and the most recent WECAN One Year Follow-up Report (when applicable).

5. The WECAN Teacher Education Coordinator must receive a copy of the AWSNA Site Visit Report and the WECAN Institute Abbreviated Site Visit Report.

If an early childhood person is not able to be on the AWSNA Team, the training program or institute is responsible for arranging a separate WECAN Site Visit.

WECAN Registered Initiative status is available to early childhood teacher education programs and institutes in Mexico, Puerto Rico, and on Tribal Lands. It provides teacher education programs, that have unique obstacles to membership, the option of affiliating with WECAN and thus connecting with the wider Waldorf early childhood movement in North America and around the globe. Registered Initiative status is intended for teacher training programs whose courses and activities are based on the ideals of Waldorf early childhood education. Registered Initiatives are expected to work toward WECAN membership as soon as they are able.

Guidelines for the Registered Service Marks WALDORF, WALDORF INSPIRED, RUDOLF STEINER, and STEINER, and the Service Mark PUBLIC WALDORF

Background

Waldorf, Rudolf Steiner, and Steiner are internationally known Marks for anthroposophically inspired education. In the United States the Association of Waldorf Schools of North America (AWSNA) is the owner of the registered marks WALDORF, RUDOLF STEINER, and STEINER, and the responsible party for the service mark PUBLIC WALDORF. In Canada AWSNA is the owner of the WALDORF and RUDOLF STEINER registered marks.

The WALDORF mark was first used in Germany in 1919 with the start of the first Waldorf School. The mark has been used in the United States since 1928. As the work of Rudolf Steiner and WALDORF Education spread, RUDOLF STEINER and STEINER became marks associated with Waldorf Education. The Bund der Freien Waldorfschulen (Bund) is the world-wide owner of the WALDORF, RUDOLF STEINER and STEINER marks outside of the United States. The BUND and AWSNA, as stewards of the marks, work closely together for the protection of the marks and the precise pedagogy and teacher training which the marks have come to symbolize. AWSNA has an agreement with the Alliance for Public Waldorf Education on the Public Waldorf service mark.

Who is allowed to use the registered marks?

Only members of AWSNA, Waldorf Early Childhood Association of North America (WECAN) institutes (that do not intend to have grades teacher training), or stand-alone early childhood programs which are Full Members of WECAN (that do not intend to add grades) are authorized to use the Registered Marks as trademarks, service marks or trade names in accordance with the AWSNA and WECAN Principles for Waldorf Schools and Membership Agreements.

- Only an AWSNA member, a Full Member of WECAN (that does not intend to add grades) or a WECAN member institute (that does not intend to have grades teacher training) may use the Registered Marks in its name such as:
  - The Waldorf School of Mendocino County
  - Rudolf Steiner School of Ann Arbor
  - Waldorf Teacher Education Eugene
  - Boulder Waldorf Kindergarten
- Only an AWSNA member, a Full Member of WECAN (that does not intend to add grades), or a WECAN member institute (that does not intend to have grades teacher training) may describe its program or curriculum as a Waldorf School or Institute or as using a Waldorf curriculum, e.g.:
  - Mountain Starlight is a Waldorf early childhood program
  - Center for Anthroposophy is a Waldorf Teacher Education institute
  - A description of Waldorf Education or website page entitled Waldorf Education

What references can be made to Waldorf, Rudolf Steiner, and Steiner by those who are not AWSNA or Full WECAN members (that do not intend to add grades)?

AWSNA and its members appreciate and encourage the adoption of aspects of the pedagogy of Waldorf Education into other educational models and school and teacher training settings, both public and private. However, schools or teacher training institutes that are not members of either association may not call themselves “Waldorf” schools or institutes or use the Service Marks to describe the education.

- Those who do not fall into a category above or do not have an explicit license may only use the Marks in text to make factual statements about their pedagogical practices. For example, a non-member may say, in text:
  - ABC School’s curriculum is inspired by Waldorf Education.
  - ABC School follows many of the teachings of Rudolf Steiner
  - 12 of our teachers at ABC School have received training from member institutes of AWSNA
- Those who do not fall into a category above or do not have an explicit license may not use the Marks to describe the school or program, including in ads and directories (unless stated as above, in text). For example, but not limited to:
  - describing part of a program of the school as a Waldorf program
  - in the name of the school
  - as part of a domain name
  - as a tag line to the name of the school, such as “ABC School, a Waldorf Inspired School”.

There are some common phrases that are likely to lead to confusion. For instance, "Waldorf teacher" is ambiguous. The phrase could refer to a teacher who is fully certified from a Waldorf Teacher Education institute. But it could have a variety of other possible meanings, such as a teacher who had merely read some of the writings of Rudolf Steiner or who had taught in a Waldorf school. Because of the different possible meanings of "Waldorf teacher," it is preferable to use "Class teacher" or "Handwork teacher," or other such specific descriptions.

Who can use the service mark Public Waldorf?

The Alliance for Public Waldorf Education can use the service mark PUBLIC WALDORF, and their members may indicate that they are members of the Alliance.

Why is protection of the mark “Waldorf” important?

The purpose of protecting a mark is to ensure clarity of the meaning for the “public”. The intention of stewarding the marks “Waldorf,” “Steiner,” and “Rudolf Steiner” is to keep the meaning clear on behalf of this education.

What is a Waldorf school or a Waldorf Teacher Training Institute?

A school or institute that is a member of our Association. Members engage in self-study and peer review based on the AWSNA Principles for Waldorf Schools and AWSNA Principles for Waldorf Institutes and work in a collaborative manner with their sister schools and institutes.

What is Public Waldorf education?

Public Waldorf education works out the Core Principles of the Alliance for Public Waldorf Education. Member schools of the Alliance for Public Waldorf Education work out of these principles.

What is Waldorf Inspired education?

Waldorf Inspired education is when an educational initiative works with, in some manner, the values or practices often associated with Waldorf education. Waldorf Inspired initiative is on that is not a part of either AWSNA or the Alliance and thus has limited collaboration, and does not engage in a peer review process of the principles of Waldorf education.

Note: These guidelines include examples of misuses, as well as permitted usage, of the terms WALDORF, STEINER, and RUDOLF STEINER. They are not a definitive statement of all possible misuses, and the Association may modify them from time to time as necessary.

If we have questions, whom should we contact?

If there is any question about mark usage please contact Melanie Reiser, AWSNA Executive Director of Membership at mreiser@awsna.org.
